Trauma and Resiliency Resources, Inc. Announces Launch of New Website, Programs and Video

>PRWEB.COM Newswire

New York, NY (PRWEB) October 25, 2011

“On an average day, eighteen veterans of our nation’s armed forces take their own lives.” Judge Reinhardt, Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals, May 10, 2011. The Rand Corporation 2008 report on the Invisible Wounds of War estimated that of the 1.64 million troops deployed to OEF/OIF as of Oct. 2007, 300,000 suffer from PTSD or Major Depression; 320,000 suffer from Traumatic Brain Injury. In the past 3 years, these figures have increased.

Trauma and Resiliency Resources, Inc. (TRR) has made a movie - "Warrior Camp" and launched a new web site to assist first responders, combat veterans, and their family members by providing them with valuable resources for dealing with the effects of PTSD. TRR announces two active programs: Warrior Camp and Horses’ Hooves and Warriors’ Hearts.

Warrior Camp is a weeklong intensive treatment program that has been carefully designed to address combat-related PTSD in an Active Duty Military population. The pilot

Camp scheduled for February 2012 targets those that have served in Iraq and Afghanistan. The purpose of Warrior Camp is to create a safe environment in which the trauma of going to war can be healed. Included are a combination of trauma treatments such as Eye Movement Desensitization and Processing (EMDR), EAGALA-model Equine Assisted Psychotherapy (EAP), Yoga, and Healing Story workshops. More details on the program can be found in a recently produced video, “Warrior Camp,” on TRR’s YouTube channel.

Horses’ Hooves and Warriors’ Hearts is a non-residential EAGALA-model treatment program that uses horses as part of a therapy team to help human clients work through the aftermath of PTSD and other challenges. A live Horses’ Hooves and Warriors’ Hearts demonstration and fundraiser will be held on December 4, 2011 at Gardnertown Farms in Newburgh, NY.

About Trauma and Resiliency Resources, Inc.

Founded in 2004, Trauma and Resiliency Resources, Inc. is a 501(c)(3) public charity that was created to meet the on going psychological needs of New York City’s firefighters, police officers, military service personnel, and their families.

The purpose of our organization is to assist first responders, combat veterans, including active duty soldiers, sailors, airmen, marines, reservists and guardsmen, and all their family members, in understanding that people often do not bounce back after significant traumatic
